Communications:

2. Communication from Supervisor Hoyer re: All new Supervisors automatically be assigned a county e-mail address to serve as a contact point for constituents as well as all contact from the County offices and business; *referred from March, 2015 County Board.

Motion made by Supervisor De Wane, seconded by Supervisor Schadewald to receive and place on file. Vote taken. MOTION CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY

3. Communication from Supervisor Schadewald re: Request that the Administration Committee revisit Chairman Moynihan's proposal for computer equipment for Supervisors; *referred from March, 2015 County Board.

Supervisor Schadewald stated that this had been discussed earlier however he felt the prior communication with regard to supervisor e-mails brought this into focus again, especially with security and confidentiality issues and he would like to know if new cost estimates have been made. Technology Services Director August Neverman stated that he did work up new numbers stripping out as much as he could including Office and a few other things and he will provide these figures to the Committee.

Vice Chair Jamir asked Neverman if it was his opinion that issuing supervisors a device would provide clear delineation of County business when e-mails are sent from a County device and will provide a clear separation of what is done for County business from personal devices. Neverman said that that was correct and that any device that public officers or employees use is able to be subpoenaed. He stated that it was more probable that devices designated for County business would be subpoenaed before personal devices.

Corporation Counsel Juliana Ruenzel stated that it really depends on whether the supervisors use the right device. Generally speaking, an open records request would be made for County issued devices. Generally an open records request would not be made for personal devices unless there is a reason to believe there is information on the personal device. Ruenzel continued that if the supervisors are diligent about keeping the County business separate and using the County issued device, everything would be fine. If a personal device does get subpoenaed or requested, it does not necessarily mean that the personal stuff is going to be looked it. It could be, but generally speaking, an open records request would come to Ruenzel and she would be able to see all e-mails, but she noted that items that are very personal and not related to work are typically not released without a court order to do so.

Ruenzel continued that in the event a request was made for a personal device, the first thing she would do is ask for a printout of everything on the personal device. If she is satisfied with what is provided, then it stops there. If there is a reason to believe there is more information on the device, she would ask for the device. If the device is not provided, a court order can be granted to mandate that the device be handed over.

Jamir stated that supervisors using County issued devices would protect themselves as much as the rest of the County employees as County employees are using devices provided by the County. Jamir stated that if an employee used a personal device to do County business, that device would also be subject to open records requests and Ruenzel agreed.

Supervisor De Wane stated that as Council President for the City of Green Bay, he has worked on several court orders and they were told that staff can only open the e-mails that they felt pertained to the subject matter being investigated and nothing further.

Supervisor Blom arrived at 5:38 pm.

Schadewald understood and appreciated the advantages of having County issued devices from a security standpoint, but stated that the reason he brought this forward was from more of standpoint of having access to information. He noted that business people use the internet, yet there are 26 supervisors sitting in the board room who have pencils and paper and no photocopying capability. He noted that the Board does business in the millions of dollars and when someone brings something up, they should be able to look at it at their desks. He felt there should be technology provided to allow for the supervisors to be able to make amendments and things of that nature for others to see. They should be able to look at information and read it so that the Board can do informed, educated business for the people. The idea that they just sit there with their brains does not make sense to Schadewald in the 21st century. He felt it would behoove the Board to be good stewards of constituents and that a computer with internet access that can be used to communicate with each other at the meetings would mean that the Board could do a better job and this is why he felt this should be pushed forward. Ruenzel cautioned that the supervisors would have to be careful about their communication in the Board room as it is an open meeting and anything that is going back and forth should be open.

Chair Fewell arrived at 5:42 pm and the meeting was turned over to him at 5:44 pm.

Schadewald would like to see the updated numbers and have this brought up at the next Board meeting.

Motion made by Supervisor Schadewald, seconded by Supervisor Jamir to hold for one month. Vote taken. MOTION CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY

4. Communication from Supervisor Zima re: The Administration Committee review Brown County's Flexible Benefit Program; *referred from March, 2015 County Board.

Human Services Director Warren Kraft advised the committee that has spoken with Supervisor Zima regarding this communication to learn of the concern and found that it was a personal coverage concern which was addressed and resolved.

Motion made by Supervisor De Wane, seconded by Supervisor Jamir to receive and place on file. Vote taken. MOTION CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY

5. Communication from Supervisor Zima re: Request that Human Resources Department provide each standing committee statistical information as to what the County employee turnover rate is by department and the corresponding reason for turnover; *referred from April, 2015 County Board.

Director of Administration Chad Weininger provided the Committee with data regarding this communication, a copy of which is attached. This information showed that the turnover rate at the County is at 19.81% and the industry average for corporate entities is roughly 17.4% annually based on information from the US Bureau of Labor and Statistics. Weininger further explained the handout by indicating that the far left column shows the number of people in the respective department and the far right column shows the percent of turnover by department.

Weininger stated that one thing for the Committee to keep in mind is that these figures include LTEs as well as seasonal employees so some of these numbers are somewhat skewed but he expected to get better numbers in the next few days.

Motion made by Supervisor De Wane, seconded by Supervisor Jamir to receive and place on file. Vote taken. MOTION CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY

6. Communication from Supervisor Robinson re: As part of the Class & Comp referral have each committee hold a discussion on the philosophy of how this comp plan would be implemented; *referred from April, 2015 County Board.

Motion made by Supervisor De Wane, seconded by Supervisor Jamir to hold until the end of the agenda. Vote taken. MOTION CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY

Although shown in the proper format here, this item was taken following Item 21.

Chad Weininger stated that the intention of this communication was for the committees to talk about what kind of compensation philosophy the Board would like. He continued that the Human Services Committee discussed things like if they wanted to be below market, at market or even a little above market and what kind of things need to be factored in such as employees going back to school to get additional degrees and longevity. Weininger continued that the first thing the Board would need to figure out is where they want to be with regard to compensation and the next part would be to figure out how to get there. Schadewald disagreed and said that the first step is to figure out what the current philosophy is and Weininger stated that currently managers bring people in between step one and step six and typically hire at what the currently hired people are at.

Schadewald asked what the options under the new proposed system would be. Weininger responded that what would happen is when someone is going to be hired, there would be the flexibility to bring them in at a rate based on education or other factors instead of at a specific step. Weininger continued that employees who fall below market could be moved up to market by using the matrix if that is what the County Board decides to do. This could help alleviate problems with turnover if that is a concern of the Board.

Schadewald asked if the Board would need to decide if they want to hire a little below market, at market or a little above market. Weininger stated that right now there needs to be a structure in place to know where all employees fall. He noted that there are currently people below minimum making $3,000 less than the same person doing the same job. There are also a number of others who are under market, but not at that large of a discrepancy and this needs to be dealt with. Weininger continued that it would cost about $16,000 to bring everyone below minimum up to minimum. Schadewald stated that for the discussion to stay clean, positions need to be referred to rather than people. Schadewald continued that if there is a position being paid below minimum, those other positions in other places are getting people who will work for more and therefore probably better people. Schadewald said that you have to start getting position-orientated in the sense that the understanding is that that is the marketplace. Kraft stated that the second phase, assuming the Board approves the structure, is to go back into the departments and work with the department heads and employees to ensure that the descriptions of the duties and qualifications for each position are accurate to get to the point where the position and its duties and qualifications are objectively reviewed so a dollar amount can be attached for the position. Kraft stated this is why the second phase is so important. HR and the administration would then can come back to the Board and let the Board know where the positions should be classed and the Board would have the control of where the positions are slotted based on evaluations and the qualifications for the position and the marketplace. Weininger stated that a decision will also have to be made regarding the positions that are above maximum.

Schadewald felt that HR will have to be constantly evaluating positions as information is gathered instead of the piece meal way that it has been done in the past. He felt that if there is a philosophy in hiring HR can now start evaluating and work the market and work the County like a business. Fewell agreed with this and added that this is something that is supposed to be done on a regular basis, not put off for 10 years and then have to do all of this catch up. Fewell felt that if the philosophy is that we should be reviewing these things every few years, than that is how it should be done and that way it is not a big deal. When it is not done for 12 years as it is right now, it turns into a big deal and he know there will be salary increases needed.

Weininger added that a compensation philosophy does not have to be that everyone is brought up to the minimum. There are multiple options for these situations with the goal to keep everyone at market. Jamir agreed with Weininger but felt that those decisions would be made in phase two. Jamir continued that what is being looked at at this time is is this the study that the Board wants to use? If the Board does not use that standard, then we go back to what we are currently using. De Wane reminded that even if this is kept the same, and there is a department with multiple people doing the same job but not receiving the same pay, at any time Human Resources can come before this Committee and ask that the appropriate adjustments be made. De Wane noted that this could have been done all along. Fewell stated that they have been doing that through reclassifications. Fewell stated that he gets irked when reclassifications come through in the January and February timeframe when the budget was just passed a few months earlier and adjustments could have been made at that time. Schadewald noted that the reclassification process takes time as well as money to accomplish. Fewell stated it would be interesting to track the reclassifications and compare them to the current study because he felt that some of them may have been reclassed and are now over market. He felt that if this is done every two years, this madness would not be happening right now. Fewell continued that this has not been done for 12 years and that is why it is out of control and we are where we are at. He said that nobody wants to touch this because if we have to give employees a $4,000 or $5,000 increase to get them to midpoint, nobody wants that on their political brochure.

Fewell continued that his understanding of Supervisor Robinson's communication was that he desired the Board to go position by position to see if Wipfli got it right and to make sure that the employees were put in the right slot. Fewell stated that he has to trust that Wipfli did their job on this and knows more about it than he knows. Weininger responded that that is the whole part of the transparency piece; allowing the employees and the managers to work together and go to HR for review and then bring it to the Executive Committee for final decision. Weininger stated that there is a process to address this and he may even use the process for a few of his positions. Fewell stated that this communication was referred to every Committee and it was Fewell's understanding that Robinson wanted the Committee to look at the positions they have oversight for. Schadewald indicated that he did not know what Robinson was looking for and Weininger added that at last night's Human Services Committee meeting, a good conversation was held on the compensation philosophy. Fewell noted that the discussions with the Human Services Committee ended up with the communication being received and placed on file. Schadewald noted that this is a County Board decision, not a Committee decision. Fewell understood this and stated that the Committees talk and talk and talk and then refer or receive and place on file. Schadewald felt the purpose of having this referred to every Committee was so that some of the talking was done now so when it gets to the County Board meeting, more people are more knowledgeable and if certain things are being talked about over and over, you just have to take it for what it's worth.

Jamir stated that when he considered submitting his name to the Board, he thought about what he would do and as a County Supervisor he has two goals: first, is to act as a financial fiduciary to make decisions for the residents of the County and District 18; second is to make policy. He continued that what the class and comp study allows the staff to do along with the County Executive and his staff and department heads is give the responsibility to them as they are working with the individual employees and they know what they are doing. They can then go back and compare that against the matrix that Wipfli gave and make adjustments where necessary. That gives the department heads and managers the freedom to do what they do best, which is why they were hired. Jamir concluded by saying that staff is asking for a decision to accept this so that the Board can then establish a philosophy as to if they want to pay the employees at the minimum, the midpoint, the maximum or somewhere in between. Once that decision is made, staff can then go back with the department heads and employees and Human Resources and determine where the employees are and what adjustments need to be made. Jamir continued that the details should not be decided by the Board and all administration is asking for at this time is for the direction to proceed. Jamir stated that he is ready to approve the study as the basis and that is all administration is asking for. Financial decisions will be made at budget time in November. Supervisor Blom agreed and felt that the Board should give administration some direction and then let them make decisions and if there are budgetary concerns they will be addressed at budget time.

Treasurer

11. Budget Status Financial Report, December, 2014 (Final).

Treasurer Paul Zeller advised the Committee that the Treasurer's Office ended up having a surplus of $172,000 for 2014. He attributed this surplus to several things including salary savings due to the interim nature of the office and a retirement as well as some investment gains towards the end of the year. Blom asked for clarification of the "other" category on the budget status financial report. Zeller explained that "other" refers primarily to the net effect of the sales of the tax deed properties as opposed to the expenses that were budgeted for those. Because the sales of the properties is a moving target and because of the timing of the advertising and class 3 notices, they ended up not very close to the budgeted figure. Fewell stated that there is also some background stuff that should show up and suggested that clearer breakdowns should be given, instead of just specifying it as "other". Zeller responded that he could provide a greater breakdown at the next meeting and also indicated that he will have additional figures for 2015 at the next meeting.

Motion made by Supervisor De Wane, seconded by Supervisor Jamir to receive and place on file. Vote taken. MOTION CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY

12. Treasurer's Report.

a. Status of Tax Collection partnership(s).

Zeller recalled that at the February meeting he discussed that they had lost their Capital Credit Union partner for collecting taxes which consisted of nine geographically important locations. Zeller stated that on April 1 the Treasurer's Office conducted a software demonstration of the product that is used to collect taxes at bank sites. Five institutions attended the demonstration and one commitment was received from Baylake Bank to offer five locations throughout the County to collect taxes. Zeller continued that Baylake is committing for July collections and he fully expected they would be back to nine sites for tax collections in December.

b. Update re: Sale of tax deeded lands by BC Code Chapter 3, Section 3.06 & Wis. Stat. 75.

Zeller stated that this had been discussed several months ago. Bids at appraised value or higher were received for a number of parcels and approved at the last County Board meeting. There are four remaining parcels that need to be sold and those parcels are now back up on the Wisconsin Surplus online auction site and have also been published as a class 1 notice in the Green Bay Press Gazette and Howard/Suamico Pres. Notices have also been posted at the City Hall and other locations. Zeller noted that the online auction closes on May 8 and he will keep the Committee advised of the results.

c. Setting a date for presentation by winner of RFP Project #1873 – Financial Advisory Services.

Zeller reported that before he arrived in the Treasurer's Office, the Purchasing Department and Port & Solid Waste put out a request for investment services, RFP 1873. This RFP was awarded at the end of November, 2014 for an external investment advisor to manage $24 million dollars, specifically attributed to money that Port & Solid Waste holds for future landfill construction. The investment advisor is PFM and Fewell noted that this is also the bonding company. Zeller continued that the RFP was scored by a team and then references were checked and PFM was chosen to come in and present to the Administration Committee as to what they do, what they take into consideration and how they plan to manage the money. Dean Haen of Port & Solid Waste will also attend the presentation as he will be directing the investment of this money. Fewell advised Zeller to notify the County Board Office to have this presentation put on the agenda and Zeller stated he would like the presentation to be made at the next meeting.

d. Discussion and possible action re: Class 3 notices and Brown County Treasurer's Office Budget line items – 5310 & -5810.

Zeller indicated that he is bringing this to the attention of the Committee as he is frustrated and is struggling with Class 3 notices. He continued that every other year the Treasurer's Office is responsible for printing a list of uncashed checks that the County has written, as well as a list of all of the uncashed checks that the Clerk of Courts has issued. The Clerk of Courts list was manageable and was printed in February at a cost of $868. The Treasurer's Office list of uncashed checks is much larger and Zeller provided the Committee with copies of what needs to be published, see attached. The first page of the handout shows the list which was put together by the Green Bay Press Gazette in column format. The cost to print this list this way would be $6,400 for a Class 3 notice, but this would almost wipe out the budget for legal notices for the year. Zeller noted that the Class 3 requirement is set forth in the Wisconsin Statutes. Zeller continued that the second page of the handout, which is nearly impossible to read, could be published as a Class 3 notice at a cost of $3,368.

Fewell asked if it would be possible to publish the more difficult to read sample to satisfy the statutes, but then work with Technology Services to have the list posted online where more people would look at it. Fewell noted that the published notice could contain information as to where to find the list online. Schadewald disagreed with Fewell and noted that the reason the State requires this is an equity issue for people. He felt that sometimes people do not know that they have uncashed checks. He felt that some of the people and businesses with uncashed checks should be called to remind them to cash the checks which would help reduce the amount of people on the list and thus require a smaller, less expensive notice. Fewell agreed that people who have large outstanding checks should be contacted. Schadewald stated that if there are people in his district on the list, he would be able to contact them to let them know they have an uncashed check. Schadewald suggested that reducing the size of the list is a win-win situation for the County and constituents. He asked about the possibility of having student interns do this, however, Weininger explained that the County no longer uses unpaid interns. Fewell felt that many on the list probably do not even have the checks anymore and Zeller responded that if they do not have their checks, they have the right to appear in person and provide proof of identity and the checks can be reissued. Fewell felt that if these were posted online and people where told how to access the website the list could be reduced before it is published which would cost less. He also felt that instructions should also be put online as to what people can do if they no longer have the checks.

Zeller felt that paring the list down as suggested may bring the cost of publication down by a few thousand dollars which would help his overall budget. He felt that by consensus it appears that the Committee would like to see the list divided up by supervisor districts as well as posted online before being printed. Schadewald also felt that the Treasurer's Office should be calling those on the list that they deal with on a regular basis and entities they are able to locate. He would like the Treasurer to report back on the progress of paring down the list in 60 days.

Jamir asked Neverman how the search for the SharePoint position is going. Neverman responded that they are working with HR on this and one of the parts of the class and comp study is to reorganize TS which will take some time, but that was expected. Neverman stated that if the position is filled between July and September they will remain on track. There would also be the possibility of bringing in a temp to fill some of the work between the other two positions that are being held, but he noted that no other projects are being delayed because of this. Neverman continued that they are keeping up on the project but they are seeing the ticket volume picking up. Schadewald asked at what point Neverman would come to the Committee to let the Committee know TS needs help. Neverman responded that they monitor the customer satisfaction scores and they are still at 3.7. If he sees a slide in the volume of tickets and the duration of the time a ticket is open, then they will take action. He hopes and believes that doing things the way they are currently doing them is appropriate.

Jamir referenced the class and comp and asked if Neverman has been able to take his staff and compare it to the study. Neverman responded that TS staff was pretty generically slotted and not a lot of time was spent on the positions as it was known that the positions were going to be reorganized which will take some time. He continued that they have done some comparisons with other municipalities, including those that were part of the original class and comp. If, for whatever reason the class and comp would not be approved, TS should still have enough material to move forward regardless. Jamir felt that the TS staff as well as the Wipfli staff did an outstanding job on the class and comp and whatever is done going forward, he felt the class and comp would help guide the planning.

Human Resources

21. Resolution re: Brown County Classification Salary Range; *referred from April, County Board.

Warren Kraft understood that the communication back from the Board was an opportunity for the Committees to meet with department heads and discuss the study and the impact of the study on their departments. Schadewald asked what the options moving forward are. In other words, if the Board approves the study what does it mean and if the Board does not approve the study what does it mean.

Kraft explained that if the Board would not approve the proposed study, the current salary structures would remain in place. He continued that they have retained the wage scales from each of the union contracts as they existed when Act 10 became effective and the contracts expired. In addition, Kraft noted that there is the seven step salary compensation schedule for administrative employees who are not union members. Essentially, there are 21 different compensation systems, depending where an employee works. Schadewald asked how long these 21 systems have been in place and Kraft responded that some of them date back to the 1980s. Weininger and Kraft explained that the current system is a COLA system with a 1% increase and another 1.5% based on performance.

Kraft explained that if the Board would move forward with the study, the first thing that would happen is that positions would be priced at what the market data says they are worth. Then you would know when going out to recruit what to expect to pay a fully qualified, seasoned and experienced employee. Kraft continued that the other thing this study will do is establish an entry level point which would be the minimum to bring someone in who meets the basic skill qualification and experience level asked for. That person could be started at the minimum and through a COLA or pay for performance system or a matrix that combines several factors an employee could move from the starting wage up to the marketplace if that is where the Board wants the employees to be at.

Schadewald said that under the old system, a person with 15 years of experience and someone with no experience gets the same starting wage. Kraft agreed. De Wane stated that under the old system new hires do not always start at the same wage as the more experienced employees, but some do. Weininger noted that the steps are frozen, but some exceptions are made.

Blom asked if someone comes in at $10.25 at step one and step two is $11.25 and a person comes in and says they were hoping to make $11 an hour if they would have to be bumped up to step two instead of being able to start the employee at the $11 they asked for. Weininger stated that was a good question and under the step system the employee would be paid the $11.25 per hour. Weininger stated that another piece of this is to streamline the process for HR so they do not have to go through all of the different contracts and figure out where someone fits in. De Wane pointed out that HR always has the option of coming before the Administration Committee to ask to be able to adjust the starting wage, but typically, there is no negotiating when someone is hired. Weininger agreed and stated that people are brought in at a specific step, not somewhere in between steps. Fewell noted that for the most part the step system only applies to the administrative employees. Weininger responded that there are steps within the old union contracts which are currently frozen. Fewell continued that everyone's salary is available through an open records request. Schadewald stated that under the old system, a wage and step system was based on what was negotiated and what the County Board had assessed which fluctuated from year to year by the budget. None of it was market driven or statistically driven which is why some people under the new study are at 140% and some are at 75% of market. Schadewald continued that Act 10 changed the whole dynamic. Prior to Act 10, most County employees and school employees were under contract, but Act 10 did away with that and left the legislators responsible for figuring out the salary and it needs to be determined what to base salaries on. Fewell agreed and said that part of it is a result of the Board not following the County Code as the Code calls for reviews of the system on a consistent basis. Schadewald said that if no changes are made now, another study will be done a few years down the road which will show some people are overpaid while others are underpaid and things need to be fixed, which is what is being asked for now.

Schadewald continued that the idea of this communication was for the Committees to have discussions so that everyone would have had a conversation on this. Schadewald asked Weininger for an explanation as to the revised resolution that was placed on the desks at the last County Board meeting. Weininger explained that comments at Executive Committee showed concern by Supervisor Buckley as to what would happen with corrections officers and the resolution was then revised to ensure that the language met the concerns of the Executive Committee and that the language met the intent. Weininger stated that the problem was that during the presentation at the County Board, he was never able to do his portion of the presentation to explain that the purpose of the resolution was to memorialize what had already been discussed.

22. Resolution re: Change in Table of Organization for the Administration Department Senior Buyer.

Weininger stated that the Purchasing Manager has recently left and Weininger felt this was a good opportunity to re-examine the department. He noted that a Senior Buyer would be a grade lower than the Purchasing Manager position which would result in a salary savings of $11,000 per year.

Jamir asked if this would change again under the new class and comp study and Weininger noted that it could. De Wane stated that administration is bringing this to the Committee and therefore is at the salary they feel is appropriate. Weininger stated that the classification for the Purchasing Manager will be eliminated and a new classification for a Senior Buyer will be added. Jamir asked if the Senior Buyer position is in the Wipfli study and Weininger responded that it is not.

Weininger directed the Committee's attention to his report contained in the agenda packet. He noted that the levy funded departments ended up about $1 million dollars to the good and the overall fund balance increased by about $734,000. He indicated that the issues contained in his report were planned for and discussed in the budget. The only area that the Committee may not be aware of is the shortfall in Human Services. Weininger continued that there was a large shortfall of roughly $1.4 million dollars. This is due to a formula change as well as increased costs to take care of children in protective service as well as some other smaller issues. Administration has met with Human Services to address this but there will be about a $400,000 structural shortfall. This will be addressed in the 2016 budget and they will also be looking for ways to reduce this in 2016. Weininger continued that there was also an increase in high cost clients which is an area that is very hard to budget for, but the fund balance that is set aside is to help out in these situations. He further noted that the fund balance will be used for Family Care for about five years until the County is made whole by the State. With this loss and the use of the fund balance, the fund balance will become negative soon and a better way to address the losses and monitor the costs at CTC is needed. Administration will be paying very close attention to this to be sure that it does not get out of hand. Weininger continued that they have brought in an expert to help with the CTC issues and structural changes in philosophy are being made.

Weininger also reported that the position for the Finance Manager for Human Services is currently open. This provides a great opportunity to bring someone in to help provide better reporting. One of the issues is with the numbers coming in, they were always three to four months late which made it hard to make adjustments, especially when projections were not favorable. Weininger also reminded the Committee that a number of the programs provided by Human Services are mandated and therefore adjustments cannot be made.

Schadewald asked if a summation is made as to what monies were received from the State budget last year and what State money is anticipated to be received for the next budget. Schadewald felt Brown County should start being honest and he asked if Brown County is getting a good return or not. Weininger stated that in the State budget they were going to require counties to do a countywide assessment which would have cost the county $2.5 million dollars and those things they try to work with the WCA to set aside. Weininger continued that there are a number of things in the budget that affect the grant revenue. By the time the State budget is done the County should know where they are at. Weininger has a list of overages and underages and those get factored in. Administratively, the State can adjust the budget after the County's budget is set which can cause shortfalls, similar to what happened in Child Support.

Weininger continued that the only other shortfall is in the Clerk of Courts budget and he recalled that the Board did not approve the additional $180,000 they were going to add. Weininger stated that the Clerk of Courts has a very short period of time to make the changes but noted that the changes have to be made with the Clerk of Courts and the judges. This is another concern that administration has that they are keeping an eye on.

Schadewald felt that after the State budget is passed the Board should be advised of what is anticipated to be received from the State based on the budget that was passed and any changes. As administration gets changes to the State budget the Board should also be advised in order to get a fixed picture of what Brown County is getting from the State.

De Wane added that department heads should also be advised of where they will be losing money so they can advise the Board of what they expect so it is not a surprise to the Board.
