4-H Families,

I’m excited to be able to share the newest issue of Exploring 4-H with you!

This month’s issue is all about terminology. If you feel like 4-H has its own language sometimes, you’re not alone. This issue briefly looks at about 20 different words that you hear frequently, some of which might be brand new, and other words might be used in a completely different context.

If you ever encounter additional terms that aren’t covered here, be sure to ask your club leader or send me an email with your question. We’d love to answer your questions.

If you’re new to 4-H as of the past month or you haven’t had a chance to check out the previous editions, you can find all previous issues on our website.

- October – The 4-H Pledge
- November – Projects
- December – Club Meetings

Please don’t forget to fill out this short survey. 4-H is all about “making the best better”, and your feedback helps us improve!

Have a great day!

Learn the Language

From the club level to the national level, 4-H uses terminology that may be unfamiliar or used differently than what you’ve previously experienced. While you’ll find some of those words here, don’t hesitate to ask your club leader if you ever come across other terms or acronyms that you don’t know. The number next to each bolded word corresponds to the answer in the crossword puzzle on the opposite page.

Club 4-H Terms
A 4-H club\(^1\) consists of a group of youth members\(^3\) who meet regularly to conduct business, serve the community, and have fun with the guidance of dedicated, caring adults. A Cloverbud\(^11\) is a 4-H member in grades K-2. All clubs have at least one adult, usually a volunteer, designated as a club leader\(^10\) who works with youth leaders to guide the group. 4-H clubs often do community service\(^2\) projects to make a difference in the community. Some clubs also have their members track project progress throughout the year (and their 4-H career) through a record book\(^1\). Other clubs encourage members to give a demonstration\(^6\), where they teach a project-based skill to other members.

County 4-H Jargon
For many 4-H members, one of the highlights of the year is showcasing their hard work at a local fair\(^17\). At the fair, members enter their project as an exhibit\(^8\). This is also a common place for counties to have a Leaders Organization\(^16\) that runs a 4-H food stand. A Leaders Organization consists of volunteers and youth leaders throughout the county that provides education, raises funds, and promotes 4-H. Usually, the organization is known as a Leader Federation, Leader Association, or Leader Council.

Wisconsin 4-H Lexicon
In 1914, the Smith-Lever Act established a Cooperative Extension\(^7\) service as a partnership between the USDA and land-grant institutions. Extension, the home of Wisconsin 4-H, is a division of UW-Madison. UW-Madison employs a 4-H educator\(^4\) in each county, usually known as a 4-H Program Coordinator or 4-H Positive Youth Development Educator, that leads and coordinates the county’s 4-H program. Wisconsin 4-H uses 4HOnline\(^9\) as it’s member management database. It’s here that members can also enroll in an educational experience\(^19\) which is a travel opportunity to various parts of the country organized by the state 4-H office.

National 4-H Language
The 4 H’s are Head\(^5\), Heart\(^14\), Hands\(^15\), and Health\(^18\). These are all part of the 4-H Pledge\(^12\) which is usually recited at the beginning of meetings. The 4-H Motto\(^13\), adopted nationally, is “To Make the Best Better.”
