SNOWMOBILERS ON GREEN BAY NEED TO AVOID THE CAT ISLAND CHAIN

The restoration of the Cat Island Chain of Islands has created an obstacle for snowmobilers as they travel along the west shore of the bay. Snowmobilers moving up and down the west shore between Duck Creek and Long Tail Point will need to use on shore trail to avoid the Cat Island wave barrier. The wave barrier extends 2.5 miles into Green Bay, is approximately 8 feet high and is protected by heavy rock which may pose a hazard to snowmobilers.
